

“IEP for Home” Virtual Seminar Series

About These Seminars:

This free, monthly seminar series presented by Dr. Erik von Hahn, is to help parents to learn more about childhood behavioral and developmental challenges that their child may be experiencing. Good information relies on good questions. Dr. von Hahn will define and outline what questions to consider. Please be aware that during the seminars, Dr. von Hahn will not be able to offer any clinical advice specific to your child.

Meet Dr. Erik von Hahn:

Ludwig Erik von Hahn, MD received his medical training at McGill University in Montreal, Quebec, where he also completed his pediatric residency in 1993. He completed his fellowship in Developmental-Behavioral Pediatrics at Boston Children’s Hospital and at Tufts Medical Center in 1998, and a two-year fellowship in child psychiatry at Boston Children’s Hospital in 2000. He is board certified in Pediatrics and in Developmental- Behavioral Pediatrics. Dr. von Hahn is especially interested in the interface between the health care and the educational systems, and in creating collaborative relationships between hospital-based clinicians and school team professionals, and families through communication and joint training.
